Senator JJR wears rain boots in Tallahassee to remind other legislators that Miami is flooding due to climate change.

Pretty websites are not enough. President Christensen: "We are here to remind voters that our Democratic members can't do this alone. We need voters to go to the polls and back up our members doing the good work to protect our environment. We have had twenty years of inaction from the GOP-controlled legislature and governorship. It is time to act on climate. Florida can't wait any longer. Our environment can't afford more years of inaction. DeSantis' initiatives look shiny but are only crumbs to the real crisis our state is going through. We need action, and we need it now."
